Westchester Broadway Theatre

The story revolves around the central character named Erik, who was born and raised in the catacombs under the Paris Opera House. He takes on a pupil a young woman named Christine who has been a street singer. Her natural talent and beautiful voice lacked the training to perform in an Opera company. Erik agrees to train her under the condition she never sees his face. Soon Christine is a principal part in an Opera and without realizing it they fall in love. The relationship becomes obsessive and impossible, leading to a stunning conclusion.
